Thanks to Advertisers

The publishers would like to thank the many progressive businesses who have demonstrated their confidence in the City Directory as a profitable advertising medium.

Environmentally Speaking

This and all Polk City Directories are printed with soy-based inks. All paper "scrap" resulting from the production of our directories is recycled. These are just a couple of the ways we have revised our manufacturing process to protect our limited natural resources and contribute to a cleaner, safer environment.

Here's what Satisfied Customers have been saying for over a century —

"While we have subscribed to other directory services, your product is far superior in accuracy, readability and completeness."

Karla Anderson, Co-owner
RRCA Accounts Management, Inc.
Sterling, IL

"We purchase a copy of the Polk City Directory every year because it helps our office function effectively. I use it at least weekly to find information about community leaders, members or visitors. The occupation and name of spouse data has proven to be very beneficial."

Pastor James W. White, Jr.
St. Giles Presbyterian Church
Raleigh, NC

"When developing databases for use with our targeted direct mail projects, we find that the Polk City Directory is far more comprehensive than any other source. We find it particularly useful to know the number of employees each business has — since many of our products are primarily useful to businesses of certain size ranges."

Wes Stant, President
The Stant Agency, Inc.
Crestview, FL

"The Polk City Directory has been a big help to our business. We use it to apply information to contracts which are incomplete, to locate people and for cross-referencing purposes."

John Mellor, Vice President
Tesco Lighting and Design
Fairbanks, AK

"The Polk City Directory has provided invaluable service to the city fire department for years. For example, in preparation of our data bank for the Emergency 911 System, the book was the correcting guide for street and house number information."

History

Few cities in America have a more colorful history than Fort Wayne. The present site of the city, because of its location "where three rivers meet," was an important center of early American Indian life before the coming of white men. Chief Little Turtle described the place as "that glorious gate", through which all the good words of our chiefs had to pass from the north to the south and from the east to the west. "Around 1696 the adventurous French succeeded in establishing a post here (Fort St. Phillipe), and held it until 1760, when it was surrendered to the English as one of their prizes at the close of the French and Indian War. The English had little success in holding the post, losing it back to the Indians under Chief Pontiac in 1763. Beginning at that time and continuing for a period of thirty years, the spot was the scene of continuous strife, turmoil and bloodshed. It was still held by the Indians even after the Revolutionary War. However, with the aid of the English, President George Washington dispatched three armies to the West to establish here what he termed "an important post for the Union." Two of the armies (under Generals Harmar and St.Clair) were defeated, but the third, led by General "Mad Anthony" Wayne, overwhelmed the Indians and their English abettors, and established a stockade which became known as "Fort Wayne" and which was dedicated on Oct. 22, 1794. The community which grew up around the fort was incorporated into a town in 1829 and as a city in 1840, and has enjoyed uninterrupted growth and expansion since that time.

Ideal Location

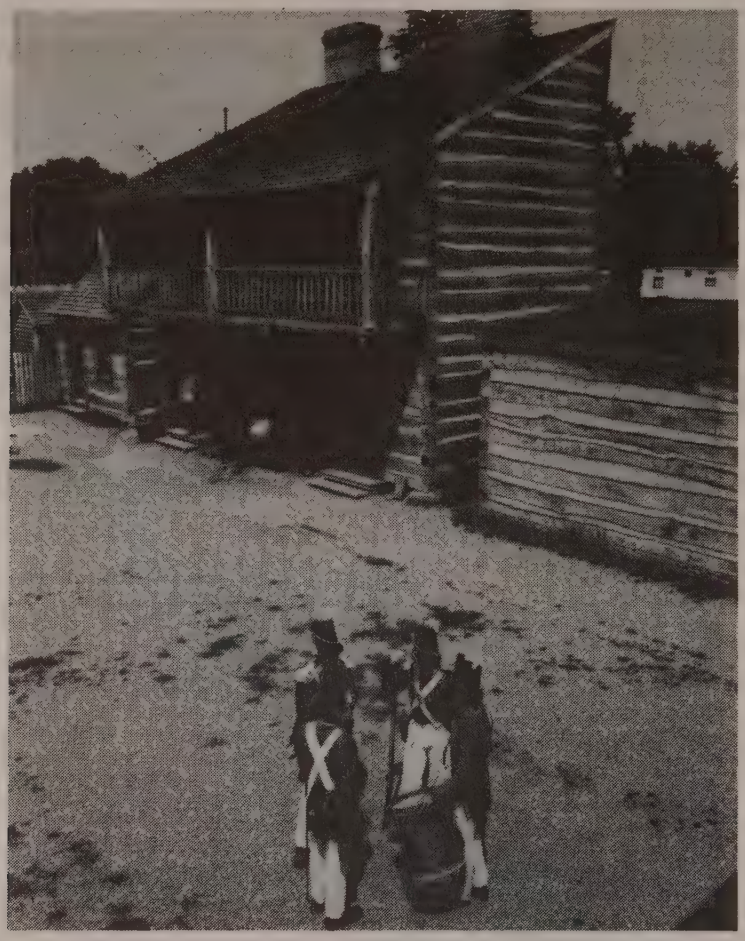
Outstanding among Fort Wayne's numerous advantages is the city's ideal location in the heart of the great East North Central States. It is located in the northeastern section of Indiana.

Manufacturers and wholesalers operating in Fort Wayne are in a position to serve approximately 69 million people within a radius of 300 miles in the richest industrial and agricultural region in the U. S.

All the great market centers of the Middle West-Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Columbus, Louisville, Grand Rapids, Indianapolis and Toledo-lie within a few hundred miles of Fort Wayne.

Moreover, nearly all these great cities may be reached by over-night shipments from Fort Wayne through the modern transportation facilities which serve the city and which are described in detail in later pages of this book.

In addition to its proximity to markets of distribution, Fort Wayne is near important sources of supply for raw materials and semi-finished goods. For example, the northwestern section of Indiana is one of the largest iron and steel centers in the world. Indiana has captured the title of "Steel State" with recent additions of mills in the Calumet area. Adequate supplies of coal are available in southern Indiana and in the adjoining states of Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky. Along with Michigan, these four states also offer limestone, lumber, sand and gravel, cement, lead, zinc, clay and many other materials. Moreover, Fort Wayne's position in a rich manufacturing and agricultural region makes it possible for the city's industrial and mercantile firms to secure economically and adequately nearly all the various farm products and processed fabricated materials used in manufacturing or for resale.



Scene of Historic Fort Wayne (The Old Fort) a replica of the city during its first days as a formal military outpost.

Recreation/Attraction--Historic Fort Wayne, an exact replica of the last of three American forts built at the confluence of our three rivers, is not only the cornerstone of our heritage, it is a unique attraction to visitors and residents. Explore the history of the early frontier, learn how these settlers coped with military life of the early 1800's. This is one of the country's finest first person interpretation living history museums.

Fort Wayne is justifiably proud of its 83 beautiful parks and playgrounds, which are located conveniently throughout the city and comprise a total acreage of 1,967. During the summer months, the parks offer a wide variety of warm weather activities such as tennis at one of 50 courts, archery at 4 different locations, baseball at one of 15 regulation size diamonds, softball at one of 37 diamonds, swimming at one of four public pools, or even throwing horseshoes at one of 13 different parks. Fort Wayne has a beautiful linear park system. The Rivergreenway hugs the three rivers as it offers paths for bikers, walking, and running. A skateboard center was just recently completed in Swinney Park. During the winter months the Board of Park Commissioners operates community care centers which specialize in supervised recreation, handicraft, games, dancing, musical and gymnasium activities. For outdoor winter fun, four different parks offer ice-skating and Franke park offers tobogganing.

Four beautiful country clubs and sixteen other golf courses are located in and near Fort Wayne. These offer accommodations for golf that are surpassed by few cities in the country. Three of the courses, Foster Park, Shoaff Park and McMillen Park, are municipally owned and operated; McMillen Park is lighted for night play.

The nationally acclaimed Fort Wayne Children's Zoo is located in the largest city park, Franke. Celebrating 27 years of continued growth and excellence, the zoo has added a 23 acre African Veldt, where animals run free, plus The Austrailian Adventure, the largest and most complete exhibit outside Australia. Over 500,000 people visit and enjoy the 1,000 species of animals.

PERFORMING ARTS CENTER

Fort Wayne has always enjoyed a wide concentration of arts and culture for a city its size. Four theatres offer full seasons of legitimate stage productions. The Youththeatre offers children the chance to experience all facets of drama. The Fort Wayne Philharmonic not only plays a full season with four different series, many of the musicians are actively involved in the Arts-In-Education programs taken into local school systems. The Fort Wayne Ballet offers classes from pre-school through adult and performs concerts throughout the year. Many of the fine and performing arts groups perform at the Performing Arts Center. Louis A. Kahn designed the building with a seating capacity of over 600, a reception hall and art gallery. Located next to the performing Arts Center is the Fort Wayne Museum of Art which houses over 1300 pieces in its permanent collection, and offers national and international art exhibits all year long, as well as strong youth programming. Among nationally notable museums, the Lincoln Museum is housed in the corporate Headquarters of Lincoln National Corporation in Fort Wayne. The collection is the largest private collection of Abraham Lincoln memorabilia in the world. Other museums of interest are the Old City Hall Historical Museum which is a store house for local history and it charts the local geography from the Ice Age to Space Age. Other museums include: Diehm Museum of Natural History, Firefighters Museum, and Cathedral Museum.

Fort Wayne is the gateway to the famous Northern Indiana Lake Region. Within a radius of 50 miles are located 300 beautiful lakes, ranging in area from a few acres to the largest, which covers 3,800 acres. All these waters, as well as the winding streams that feed into them, offer splendid fishing and every kind of outdoor amusement, all of which makes northern Indiana an ideal vacation land. Large and small mouth bass, bluegills, perch, crappies and pickerel abound in these lakes, providing real sport for bait and fly casting. There are many fine hotels at these lakes, offering accommodations that are reasonably priced and which include bathing, boating, dancing, sailing and other kinds of entertainment. Good paved highways make these resorts easily accessible.

In addition to the recreational activities mentioned above, Fort Wayne offers many other entertainment attractions, including dance halls, skating rinks, trap and skeet shooting ranges, bowling, cross-country skiing, and every type of athletic event.

Allen County War Memorial Coliseum and Exposition Center.

One of Fort Wayne's most prominent landmarks has played host to numerous types of trade shows, entertainment, sporting events and more. The Coliseum is home to Fort Wayne Komets, an IHL professional hockey team, and the Fort Wayne Fury, a Continental Basketball Association basketball teams. The arena seats 10,000 and hosts other types of events such as car shows and truck pulls. With the expansion of the facility, the Expo Center has added another 108,000 square feet for conventions, trade shows, stage productions, concerts and public meetings, with additional private rooms for events such as wedding receptions. The Coliseum and Expo Center is the 54th largest facility of its type in the county.

The Grand Wayne Center complex includes the convention center, the Visitor Information Center, the Botanical Conservatory, the Embassy Theater, a multi-level parking garage, three sky walks and a 250 room luxury hotel. The beautifully designed meeting rooms handle any size group for many types of functions. The main exhibition hall boasts 25,000 square feet of space for trade shows, conventions, stage productions and banquets. The ballroom covers 6,000 square feet with an adjacent Atrium space perfect for cocktail parties, dances, meeting space or informal gatherings. Five other meeting rooms are available in the facility.

GRAND WAYNE CENTER

Convention Facilities

Fort Wayne offers many fine hotel and restaurant facilities to accommodate meetings of 10 to 10,000. In addition to these facilities, our City can provide auditorium seating for conventions at the Scottish Rite (2,100), Embassy Theatre (2,750), and the Performing Arts Center (700). Fort Wayne's 37,000 sq. ft. convention center in downtown Ft. Wayne. Additional banquet/convention sites are also available at the Memorial Coliseum and the Exposition Center. Written information can be obtained from the Convention & Visitors Bureau of the Greater Fort Wayne Chamber of Commerce, 826 Ewing Street, Ft. Wayne, In 46802.

Low Tax Rate

A low tax rate is another of Fort Wayne's outstanding advantages. Indiana property owners are also eligible for homestead tax credit.

An organization of business persons known as the Taxpayers Research Association organized in 1934, conducts a year-around study and analysis of all receipts and disbursements of local taxing units. Committees of the organization confer with local officials when the latter are preparing estimates for their annual budgets. The TRA is located at 826 Ewing Street in the Chamber of Commerce Building.

A Healthful City

Located in a temperature latitude which is subject to neither extremely hot nor severely cold weather, Fort Wayne has a number of natural advantages which combine to make the city a healthful place in which to live.

The city has an average winter temperature of 21 degrees F, and summer average of 81 degrees F. Total precipitation averages 35 inches annually.

The purity of the water supply is another important factor in keeping Fort Wayne's people healthy. The Three Rivers Filtration Plant draws water from the St. Joseph River above the city, subjects it to a series of chemical treatments and filtration processes, and jumps it into the city's mains in a condition meeting the most exacting bacteriological tests. Moreover, the supply is practically unlimited.

The Fort Wayne-Allen County Board of Health is doing excellent work in protecting public health by attacking diseases at their source. The board has a staff of food and milk inspectors who keep a constant check on the farms, dairies, markets, restaurants and stores which produce and distribute the city's food and milk. Another important phase of the board's work is its efforts to encourage parents to have young children vaccinated and immunized.

The Fort Wayne Area Chapter of the American Red Cross maintains a Regional Blood Collecting Center, supplying dozens of hospitals in northern Indiana and northwestern Ohio.

Recently, recycling has become more popular than ever in Fort Wayne and the surrounding area. It is encouraged for homes and businesses to have separate waste containers for aluminum, paper, tin cans, and glass. IPFW is a good example of an institution that is supporting this idea by presenting separate waste containers in certain buildings for aluminum cans.

Transportation Services

Many years ago Fort Wayne became recognized as an important American community because of its location as a terminal for water travel and transportation on the St.Mary's, St.Joseph and Maumee rivers and the old Wabash and Erie Canal. During the 1700's the Indian tribes and early explorers found that with an eight mile portage southwest of Fort Wayne (Miami Village) one could travel from the Atlantic Ocean up the St.Lawrence River and through Lakes Ontario and Erie, to the Maumee River. By this portage, the next waterway was the Wabash River, pouring into the Ohio, which finds its way to the Mississippi, thus to the Gulf of Mexico.

Today, although river travel is long outmoded, Fort Wayne continues in its position as an important American industrial center because the city has kept pace with progress in transportation, and now enjoys the efficient services of modern railroads, motor trucks buses, and commercial air lines.

This section will include detailed descriptions of the modes of transportation available in Fort Wayne, including: rail service, motor trucks and buses, and airport services.

Rail Service

CONRAIL--Main line east-west through Fort Wayne. Passenger and freight service eastbound to Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Washington and New York City. Conrail operates freight service from Fort Wayne north to Elkhart.

NORFOLK-SOUTHERN RAILWAY--The Nickel Plate and Wabash Railroads merged with the Norfolk & Southern in 1964. Main line east-west through Fort Wayne with freight service northeast to Cleveland, Detroit, Erie, and Buffalo. It travels westward to Chicago, St.Louis, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, Kansas City and joins other roads to the West Coast. Fort Wayne is one of the principal Midwest hubs of Norfolk & Southern. An average of 55 Norfolk & Southern trains pass through Fort Wayne each day through a switching yard maintained here.

MOTOR TRUCKS AND BUSES--A number of interstate bus lines and motor transports operate through Fort Wayne, and provide first-class motor service to all points in the U. S. There are complete coach and truck systems covering the Fort Wayne area and operating in other cities in Indiana. Bus service is provided by American Buslines, ABC Coach Lines Charter Service, American Concord, and Summit Coaches, Cardinal Charter and Tours, and Landmark Charter Coach Service, Inc.

Airport Services

The airports serving Fort Wayne are Fort Wayne International and Smith Field airports. Fort Wayne International Airport is located seven miles southwest of Fort Wayne's central business district. The airport consists of over 2,000 acres and 45 buildings. The airport has paved runways, associate taxiway systems, four general aviation apron areas, air carrier terminal area military operational area, and a commercial industrial park. There are over 70 tenants at Fort Wayne International Airport. Primary tenants include 9 scheduled airlines, a hotel, two restaurants, three fixed base operators, Air National Guard unit, Federal Aviation Administration Air Traffic Control facilities, Federal Aviation Administration flight Service Station, National Weather Service, and four rent-a-car agencies.

Smith Field was named in honor of the early Fort Wayne flier and pioneer of American aviation, Art Smith. Smith Field is a secondary airport located 3.5 miles north of the city on a 300 acre tract. Smith Field is used exclusively for private flying. The airport has two paved runways, associated taxiways, general aviation terminal area, and 45 t-hangars. The airport is served by one full service fixed base operator.

Fort Wayne International Airport and Smith Field are owned and operated by the Fort Wayne-Allen County Airport Authority. The Authority was created in 1985 by a special act of the Indiana State Legislature. The airport is administered by a six-member Airport Board established under Allen County. The Board is comprised of three members appointed by the County Commissioners and three members appointed by the City Mayor. The Board has overall financial and policy-making responsibility for the two airports. The Authority operates as an independent public entity and is administered, operated, and maintained by a full-time staff.

The descriptions that follow are of airlines and their direct flights that serve Baer Field. From these direct flight locations, travel is possible to almost any part of the world.

American Eagle--direct flights to Chicago and Indianapolis.

Comair--direct flights to Cincinnati.

Delta (along with its feeder airline Comair)--direct flights to Atlanta, Cincinnati, and Toledo.

Northwest Airlines--direct flights to Detroit.

United Express--direct flights to Chicago and Toledo.

US Air (formerly Piedmont Airlines)--direct flights to Dayton.

Radio And Television Stations

Fort Wayne enjoys many fine radio and television stations offering a variety of entertainment. Five AM Radio stations include: WLYV, WGL, WFCV,WQHK, and WOWO. Eleven FM radio stations including: WAJI, WBCL, WBYR, WBNI, WJLT, WDJB, WJFX, WBTU, WMEE, WLAB and WXKE. A station representing each of the national television networks is located in Fort Wayne. These are WANE Channel 15 (CBS), WKJG Channel 33 (NBC), WPTA Channel 21 (ABC), and WFFT Channel 55 (FOX). There is also WFWA Channel 39, a public broadcast station. Comcast Cable provides the cable service for Fort Wayne.

Industry

Location of new industries in this city is in itself an interesting story. In the early 1920's the Chamber of Commerce formed an organization known as the Greater Fort Wayne Development Corporation, which secured a large industrial developing tract located in the southeast section of the city. Major industries locating plants there since that time are now responsible for two thirds of Fort Wayne's industrial employment. Since World War II, Dana Corp., Standard Packaging, a second Phelps Dodge Plant, Navistar Engineering Laboratory, Uniroyal-Goodrich, North American Van Lines, Wabash Fibre Box Co., General Motors, and K-Mart Distribution, are major additions. Expansions have involved Magnavox, Rea Magnet Wire, Slater Steels Corp., Edy's Grand Ice Cream, Challenge Tool, GE Motors, and Essex Group, to name a few. This core area has been designated an Enterprise Zone allowing special development and tax incentives of businesses and individuals located within the boundaries.

Many of the area's major employers have their corporate headquarters in Fort Wayne. These include: Lincoln National Life Insurance, GTE North Incorporated, North American Van Lines, and Essex Group. Other major employers include: Magnavox Electronic Systems Company, General Electric, Parkview Memorial Hospital, Lutheran Hospital, Uniroyal-Goodrich Tire Company, Dana Corporation, Tokheim, ITT Aerospace/Optical Division, Zollner and General Motors.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUILDING
Located on northwest corner of Wayne and Ewing Streets. Built in 1928 at a cost of approximately $365,000. One of the few buildings in the U.S. built and operated exclusively as a Chamber of Commerce Headquarters.

Chamber of Commerce

The Greater Fort Wayne Chamber of Commerce was organized in 1918 to succeed Fort Wayne Commercial Club, which had served the city since 1875. The Chamber's first headquarters was located at 817 South Harrison St. In 1928, the organization moved to its present location at 826 Ewing Street. In 1983, the Chamber was reorganized to concentrate its efforts on economic development

Designed in the architectural style of the 14th Century Italy, the magnificent Chamber of Commerce Building is owned and operated exclusively for civic purposes. It is the focal point of all civic and community activities and more than 200 different groups meet here regularly. Housed on its third floor are the Fort Wayne Woman's Club, Taxpayers Research Association, Hispanic Chamber, and Rotary Club.
